REF: Second Request for Grand Jury investigation of possible conspiracy to evade the payment of federal taxes by the attorney known as Dennis J. Hershewe and his client, Adventist Health System - West

Dear Sir/Madam:

This is a follow-up letter to my initial letter to your office, dated June 28, 2007, under the same subject.

In my 6/28/2007 letter I made a formal request that you pursue a grand jury investigation of the possible scheme designed to evade the payment of federal taxes by (1) Dennis J. Herhsewe, esq., and (2) his client the Adventist Health System – West.

I have since learned that York M. McGavin may have close ties to Mr. Hershewe. You will recall that Mr. McGavin presently has an outstanding tax lien in the amount of $500,000.00 owing to the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.).

As part of my volunteer efforts to detect fraud against the United States as a private attorney general (using the powerful fraud fighting tool known as the RICO¹ statutes) I would like to postulate a theory. I believe that certain agents working on behalf of the Adventology group recruit individuals with serious delinquencies with the IRS to conduct clandestine and improper activities on behalf of the cult.

To illustrate: I believe private and improper inurements have been provided to these recruited individuals in the form of legal assistance in dealing with the I.R.S. and funds to make payments for said tax delinquencies. In other words, it appears that legal services may have been provided from the funds of a charitable non-profit organization (see IRS section 501(c)) and monies have been provided to these recruits to pay their tax liability.

¹ Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations

The scheme is rather simple; however, the concealment methods used by the alleged individuals involved make it appear complex. It is this complexity that has thwarted and discouraged law enforcement from aggressively pursuing prosecution in this matter as the case is “not packaged for prosecution”.

I believe that the totality of circumstances involved in this case would lead a reasonable and prudent individual to believe a fraud has occurred. For instance:

- Proof that the Adventology organization in Placer County apparently paid Mr. Hershewe’s delinquent corporate taxes with the California Secretary of State from the funds of a non-profit, charitable organization.
- That York M. McGavin, owing $500,000.00 to the IRS, became an instrumental player in my workers’ compensation case by weaving himself into my litigation. I now believe that he was acting as a “double agent” for the Adventologists.
- That, based upon remarks from a former internal auditor of the Adventology organization, recruits are often offered assistance in the obtaining of home mortgages via the use of mortgage fraud. In some cases, Adventology employees are given funds directly from the non-profit charitable organization to purchase lavish homes.

Since the United States is presently without an Attorney General, I deem it appropriate to stand in his/her shoes as a private attorney general. I suppose if we have the “Minutemen” doing the job of the Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) branch of the U.S. Department of Justice I should not complain about this role that I reluctantly accept. As the “Minutemen” say, “doing the job the federal government refuses to do.”

Sincerely,

Barbara Clark
